

ATTENTION ALL SUV OWNERS!!!

Those Expensive SUV Third Row Seats have become Hot items for Thieves

Within Southern California, there has been a steady rise in thefts of SUV rear seats. By engraving a special identification number on the third-row seats, this will assist police in identifying the owner.

Third-Row seats have become a popular option for large families because it gives them some extra passenger room, but these seats have also become a top target for thieves. The seats are very expensive and hard to come by.

SUV third-row seats can easily cost approximately $3000 to replace.

Most automakers Do Not mark third-row seats with serial numbers, so there is no effective way to track them down when they are stolen.

According to investors, the seats are very easy to remove and even easier to install in any similar SUV. The thief just has to tighten two bolts. The stolen seats have become a hot commodity for resale at swap meets and auto parts stores.

Third-Row seats engraved with a drivers license or other identification number are easier to identify and return if they are stolen. If your SUV has Third-row seats and you are not using them please remove them and store in a secure place.
